RUBE OLDING LURED BACK
TO GAME BY YANKS' BIG OFFER

New York, July 13—Rube Olding, former outfielder of the Athletics, will don a New York uniform and play left field for the Yankees shortly. Olding was finally lured out of his retirement from baseball by Germany Schaefer, who was the last emissary sent to see him. Though Olding was given his unconditional release when he left the Athletics last month, he made a promise to Connie Mack if he ever decided to play again he would give his services to the Philadelphia leader first. Therefore the Yankees will pursue chase him as though he was still under contract to the Philadelphia club. Olding was more sincere in his retirement than many thought. He had really grown tired of the game, and his interests at home, where he has a big farm, took a good deal of his time. One reason why he has not been able to reach a decision earlier is that he could not make arrangements to have his place taken care of. At the most, Olding says, he will play only one more season. He declares he will be through when this season closes. Olding will be a great help to the Yankees in their present predicament, with Gibbs out of the game for six weeks of two months. Olding has been a great hitter, but he has always been a dangerous and timely hitter. He hit well up around .270 last year and has gone over the .300 mark in his time. But he is a fast and sure fielder and a smart play player.

DEININGER TO PLAY FIRST FOR BRIDGEPORT TOMORROW

Will Try New Lineup Against Lynn to Add More Hitting Strength to Club

(By Wagner)
In order to add hitting strength to the Bridgeport club Manager Healy has determined to make a few changes in the lineup. Beginning tomorrow Otto Deininger will play first. Pat Duggan will move to left and George Mosher will go to right field. Deininger has played first in the International league and is willing to make the change for the good of the club. Manager Healy is still trying to land a high class catcher and hopes to get a man within a few days. The new lineup will be tried tomorrow for the first time against Lynn when Pipers hustling players appear at Newfield in the second part of a double bill. Mulrennan, Turner and Walsh are ready to pitch for Bridgeport. In the preliminary the Chain Co. and U. M. C. clubs of the Industrial league will clash. Townsend and Bloom will be the Chain battery. Barry and Flaherty will serve them for the U. M. C. This game will start at 2 p. m. Employment of both shops will be in force. On Sunday Lawrence will be here for two games.

J. H. Sullivan, Jr. and Paul Tewksbury, when they were declared ineligible because they opened a sport goods store in Boston.

Harry LeGore is a glutton for punishment. Not content with stirring up a fine mess in college circles last year by playing ball, the Yale star intended to do a little cheating in the White Mountains this summer. Why is a college education, anyway?

The release of Doolin means that Brad Koecher will get plenty of work with the Giants. The former Bridgeporter has made a hit with McGraw by his hustling tactics.

SPARLING, BROOKLAWN
PROFESSIONAL IN GOOD
FORM AT GARDEN CITY

George Sparling, the Brooklawn professional, made a fine showing in the open golf competition at Garden City, L. I., yesterday. He turned in a card of 88, which was very good under the circumstances. Parker Seeley, also of Brooklawn, went around in 93.

Garden City, L. I., July 14—Only five amateurs were left among the 74 players who started another double round of medal play today in the Metropolitan Golf Association's open championship on the links of the Garden City Club. One of them, Frank W. Dyer, of Montclair, N. J., tied for first place yesterday in the opening round with Charles F. Hoffer, the professional of the Philmont Club of Philadelphia. Each had a score of 155 for the 36 holes.

RICHIE MITCHELL 21 TODAY

Richie Mitchell, the Milwaukee boxer, who has been rapidly forging toward the front in the lightweight division, will attain manhood's estate today. Richard Harvey Mitchell, to give him the full layout, was born in Milwaukee 21 years ago, July 14, 1895, and he has been boxing nearly four years. Nearly five feet nine inches in height, and with a finely developed chest and shoulders and a reach that puts most of the boys in his class at a disadvantage, Richie has a physique which should carry him far along the road to pugilistic success.

Mitchell has twice outpointed Johnny Kilbane, and last April he made a fine showing against Freddie Welsh in a 10-round bout in Milwaukee, although the champion had a weight advantage of about 10 pounds. The United States Golf association doesn't intend to have its fair name sullied by any taint of vulgar trade. The association has refused membership to the Woodland club of Newtown, Mass. This club supported its members, former Champion Quimet,

DOOLIN RELEASED
BY GIANTS' BOSS

Cincinnati, July 14—After 14 years of service, Charles (Red) Doolin's big league baseball career came to an end here yesterday afternoon when the Giants released the former manager of the Phillies to the Rochester club of the International League. Doolin became a member of the Phillies back in 1902 and played with that team until two years ago. After Moran was made manager of the Phillies, Doolin was released to the Reds, but was purchased last summer by the Giants after Chief Meyers began to go back.

With the addition of Raden and Koecher this year, McGraw had little use for Doolin and outside of coaching the young pitchers, he only figured in one or two games. Doolin managed the Phillies for several years, succeeding Billy Murray.

OLDING SIGNS TO FINISH SEASON IN YANKEE UNIFORM

New York, July 14—Rube Olding, one of New York's few native big league stars and for 10 years one of the Philadelphia Athletics' most dependable outfielders, has been lured from his farm at Bridgeton, N. J., to aid the Yankees in their promising fight for the American League pennant. About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the Polo Grounds office of Harry Sparrow, the Yankees' business manager, Olding signed the papers which will bind him to play with the Yankees for the remaining three months of the season. He will make his re-debut with New York on Saturday, playing against Detroit. Olding started his big league career with the Yankees in 1905, when he was drafted from Montgomery in the Southern League, only to be awarded later to Philadelphia.

After signing his contract Olding announced that this positively would be his last year in baseball, and that he would retire at the end of the present season. Olding has been a consistent, batter throughout his big league career. He had his best season in 1910, when he hit for .308. Olding is needed badly just now by Manager Donovan. Roy Hartzell, substituting for Gilheoley, is becoming feeble of limb and does not only hit for himself, but has not speed enough to catch drives which would be easy for other fielders. Fritz Kallal has returned to his home in Baltimore, where he will work out daily and Manager Donovan has the word of his physician that he will be ready to play in about two weeks.

YANKEES RETURN TO FIRST PLACE
TROUTING INDIANS

New York, July 14—The Yankees again lead the league. They won the last game of the series with the Cleveland Indians at the Polo Grounds yesterday by 6 to 3. Many persons were under the impression that the score was 4 to 3, as Hildebrand, the umpire in chief, called the game in the eighth inning on account of rain and darkness when only two of the home team were out. Two runners, however, had crossed the plate and under the scoring rules the Yankees are entitled to these runs.

Donovan's men did not do as well as they hoped in their battles with the invaders. When they visited Cleveland on their western trip they found the Indians were picking and the games with them here were regarded in the light of stepping stones to higher things. Instead of stepping stones they proved to be stumbling blocks. Cleveland now moves on to Washington and Philadelphia, while the Yankees will be mingling with Detroit and St. Louis, and neither of these teams is any cinch to beat.

Shawkey pitched good ball for the Yankees yesterday.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL ELEVEN
PREPARE FOR COMING SEASON

Yale and Penn Experiments With New Coaching Systems Will Attract Interest.

New York, July 14—Although another two months must elapse before the candidates for the Eastern "crack" football teams begin to assemble for gridiron practice, coaches and managers are already preparing for the coming pignum campaign. Footballs are being distributed among the players for use during the vacation period and those who will have charge of the squads are taking stock of the material available for big autumn drives on time scored fields.

In the case of at least two of the big universities this preliminary activity is made necessary as the result of complete changes in the coaching system and personnel for the coming season. Both Pennsylvania and Yale will enter the football arena this fall with a new coaching corps in charge of the teams and the playing of the eleven under these mentors will be watched with more than the usual interest by both those affiliated with these universities and the general football fan.

At Yale Tad Jones, who signed a three-year contract last winter, will be head coach. He will be assisted by Trainer Mike Sweeney, Arthur Glavin and several other well known Yale players of the past, with Walter Camp occupying his old time position of advisory coach and strategist. Jones, it is hoped by Yale men, will prove to be the Magic Man, and the Ell football team into the land of gridiron victories, a place which the Blue has seen but from afar in recent years.

Pennsylvania is in somewhat of a similar position and has selected Robert Folwell as the coach to bring again to Franklin Field the gridiron glory which in former years was associated with the Red and Blue eleven. Folwell, like Jones, has some excellent material to begin work with and will be assisted by Charley Wharton and By Dickson as well as other Quaker players of repute. If Folwell's record as coach at Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson can be taken as a criterion, Pennsylvania will be a gridiron opponent to be treated with great respect during 1916. At the other leading Eastern institutions where football is accorded strong support, there will be little change in either the coaching staffs or the system in vogue during the past few years. Percy Haughton will not be able to devote his entire time to the Harvard squad during the early portion of the autumn, because his duties as president of the Boston National league baseball club will require much of his attention until about the middle of October. Leo Leary is expected to do much of the preliminary coaching, assisted by Charley Brickley and other Harvard stars of yesterday.

"Speedy" Rush will again be in charge of the Princeton football destiny assisted by a larger squad of graduates than was the case a season ago. This will be Rush's second year with the Tigers and judging from the progress, the team made under his instruction last fall, the Tigers should be formidable on the gridiron this autumn. At Cornell, Dr. Al Sharpe will face the task of developing another Red and White team capable of playing a game along the lines of Cornell's championship eleven of 1915. Dartmouth will also depend upon Frank Cavanaugh to maintain the high standard of the Hanover teams of the past few years. Glenn Warner will be back at Pittsburgh and Foster Sanford at Rutgers in addition to several other coaches who have succeeded in putting small colleges in prominent places on the Eastern football map.

CRACK BOXERS IN COMING SHOW AT WALNUT BEACH A.C.

New Haven, July 14—Milford sportsmen will have an opportunity to see some good boxing July 22 when three all-star bouts will be staged at the Casino, Walnut Beach. The show will be held in the afternoon, starting at 7:30. An afternoon show is a novelty in this section but the beach fans think it will be a success. With such boys as Johnny Howard, Danny Conlon and Jim Barry on the card the spectators will get their money's worth. Sam Howard, a well known matchmaker and promoter of Oshkosh, Wis., is spending the summer at the shore and will have charge of the card.

The complete card is:
Young McAuliffe vs. Danny Conlon, featherweight champion of the Pacific coast and the northwest, 15 rounds at 120 pounds; Jim Barry of Chicago vs. Sailer Carroll of New York, 15 rounds, heavyweight. Johnny Howard of Bayonne, N. J., vs. Bud Connors of New York, 15 rounds, 160 pounds.

Rube Olding, veteran outfielder, has been signed by the Yankees.

TRADES BREWING
AMONG NATIONAL LEAGUE MAGNATES

New York, July 14—There's something big brewing in the National League, and those who have been trying to get at the bottom of it all have been responsible for rumors that sometimes tax the credulity of the fan.

It has been pretty well established that Charles Canteloupe Herzog is not to linger much longer with the Reds. However, Gerry Harman has fixed a price on Herzog that is almost prohibitive. In conjunction with this comes the placing of Slim Sallee on the market. Herzog and Sallee are the balance of power in the first division of the National League. Any club among the first four which obtains the two will win the pennant—and something like eight managers in the National League know it.

In addition, there is evidence that the Boston club is seeking to get rid of Johnny Evers, but it wants something as good to fill the gap. Percy Haughton likes aggressiveness, and he seems to have grown tired of the Evers brand. Johnny's recent outburst, that brought him a suspension, prompted Haughton to plaster a big fine on his second sacker.

LEVINSKY WINNER
OVER JACK DILLON

Baltimore, Md., July 14—Battling Levinsky of New York put a large crimp in the championship aspirations of Jack Dillon of Indianapolis when they met in a ten-round bout yesterday afternoon at Oriole Park. At the end of the last round Levinsky had Dillon on the ropes, rocking his head with rights and lefts, and only the bell saved the conqueror of Frank Moran from a knockout.

At the beginning of the fight, Dillon forced the issue. He tried time and again to land a right on the Batter's jaw that would have ended the fight, but Levinsky outboxed Dillon at every part of the game, straightening him up with sharp left jabs to the face and hard rights to the body. He made Dillon look like a novice. In the second round Levinsky opened a cut over Dillon's right eye and kept it bleeding throughout the bout. He also brought disaster to Dillon with a hard smash to the wind that made the giant wince, and a hard blow on the mouth evidently loosened some of Jack's teeth, as he made a wry face.

The men were matched to box 15 rounds to a decision for the light heavyweight championship, and had it come that distance many who saw the fight were of the belief that Levinsky would have been the champion. Fortunately for Dillon, the promoter who guaranteed him a purse of $5,000 and one of $2,500 to Levinsky, disappeared. Not to disappoint about 1,500 folks, the battlers decided to box 10 rounds, with no decision, for the gate receipts.
